

f twelve men, and sent each a copy. Tempora

a jury of twelve men, and sentenced to the penitentiary. Temporarily, he escaped. Some contemplative individuals in the audience suggested that he should be indicted while under indictment and that conviction as a thief and a pecuniarist, the honest Republican party, that doesn't stand by dishonest public servants, had him Colonel in the honorable ranks of the United States, and is Colonel today, or until recently. In return he became one of the chief speakers against the Democratic party, and its latest fiend in 1863. And so with A. P. Stone. His penitentiary was back to back with the penitentiary. It was known he was a dishonest public servant, and yet the Administration, through Salmon P. Chase, made A. P. Stone Collector of In-

Aggravated by the fact that the Representatives, three-fourths of which was Republican, in 1862, found Simon Cameron guilty of peculation. They condemned him, and they compelled the President of the United States to remove him as Secretary of War, and to appoint a man of honor in place of him, a man from Russia. They punish their public servants, do they? Well, I hope by-and-by some such punishment will come to us for our good deeds as they gave to theirs for their bad ones—for the internal revenue because we are honest, and some of us have taken to Russia for the same reason. [laughter.] Here is a Treasurer of State—a man who has been one of the most able and ablest of our countrymen, and the ablest abusers of the public money in the country—has been exposed in reputation—

But the party to which we are opposed is a party of despotism. I will thank any member of that party if he will give me one resolution passed by the Republican party since the war began, in which there has been one single denunciation of arbitrary arrests or arbitrary proceedings. I will thank anybody who will consent to my address a copy of such resolution. There never has been a protest against a single infraction of the constitution, by that party. Why? Because these violations of the Constitution

...sons, have been directed against their opponents. And when the tables are turned, and the Democratic party shall have power, if the rules laid down by the late Administration are to be applied to the future Administrations, there will come up a howl such as some wild beast may be supposed to send forth from the jungles, when smitten by the shaft of the hammer. It is the party of despotism against self-righting justice. The very first Governor elected after the war commenced was a Governor who not only did not resist arbitrary power in the State of Ohio, but actually invited the arrest of one of the most illustrious of our countrymen, and had him dragged from his home and incarcerated in Fort Warren. So with governor Dugitt. He, in his lifetime, deliberately permitted a military commission to sit in the city of Cincinnati for trial of citizens, for two months, and permitted another commission to sit in Jefferson county to try citizens for offenses properly recognizable to the civil tribunals of the land. That is the manner in which the United States Government has treated the citizens of the States. It is not the way in which Gen. Geo. W. Morgan, if selected, will administer affairs as Governor.

Mr. Vallandigham next referred to the suspension of the United States bonds, and concluded by charging that the Republican party was a negro-equality party.

The Last Hours of Stonewall

A Virginia correspondent of the New York World has written to that paper an interesting account of the exploits and death of this famous rebel General. We quote the following concerning the close of his career:

"If I had not been wounded," said he, "we had had one hour more of daylight. I would have cut off the enemy from the road to United States Ford; we would have been entirely surrounded, and they would have been obliged to surrender or cut their way out; they had no other alternative. My troops may sometimes fail in driving an enemy from a position, but the enemy always fails to drive my men from a position."

He then subsistently said: "I consider these words a blessing; they were given me for some good and wise purpose, and I would not part with them if I could." His wife was pious with him, and when she announced to him that she was going to be married, he replied, with perfect calmness, "Very good, very good; it is all right." These were very nearly his last words. He soon afterwards became delirious, and was heard to mutter, "Pass the infantry to the front!—Tell Major Hawks to send forward provisions for the men!" Then his martial ardor disappeared, and a smile diffused itself over his pale features. "I am married," he said, "under the river and under the trees." It was the river of death he was about to pass; and

Such are the circumstances which attended the last hours of the soldier who had so long carried the Southern standard and accomplished such extraordinary successes. With his disappearance from the scene, the fortunes of the South, like those of the North, began to wane. The Federal forces were often driven back thereafter but were never completely defeated. Great leaders were left, but their exertions appeared to secure no definite results. Jackson had passed away, and an assassin had done his duty, and no one seemed able to fill his place.

1. Before military commission, which convened at Paducah, Ky., April 10, 1865, by virtue of special orders No. 1, paragraph 2, dated March 26, issued by the War Department, and by special orders No. 1, paragraph 3, dated March 13 and 14, 1865, special orders No. 119, paragraphs 1 and 2, dated July 5, 1865, and special orders No. 120, paragraph 23, dated July 10, 1865, Headquarters Department of Kentucky, Louisville, Ky., and of which Lieutenant Colonel Wm. P. Moore, with Illinois volunteer infantry, is President, were arraigned and charged—

1st. That Thomas Burgess, citizen, did smuggle from the post of Cairo, Illinois, on board the steamer Belle of One hundred and twenty (120) pounds of Gunpowder, and seven thousand (7,000) rounds of small caliber ammunition, which was concealed in a barrel purporting to be a barrel of salt pickled hickory, Kentucky, and

✓A dispatch from Indianapolis says hydrophobia still rages. Two more children have been bitten, and unmailed dogs are being killed by scores. Nearly three hundred have been thus disposed.

The foreign capitalists were being flouted by the Board of Trade of that city on the 16th inst.

The Memphis Argus, of the 15th says the Mississippi Central railroad will be completed through from Grand Junction, Tenn., to Canton and Jackson, Miss. within the next ten days.

Several barges are at the wharf at Covington, Kentucky, receiving the guns and gun carriages from the fortification back of that city.

1862 By vote of fifty-eight to thirty-four, the Alabama Convention has decided not to repudiate the Confederate State debt.

1862 The public reception of General Grant at Covington, Kentucky, is to take place at Odd Fellows' Hall in that city.

1862 The National Bank at Madison, Indiana, has been designated as a depository of public moneys.

1862 The total amount of national currency now in circulation is nearly $184,000,000.

Arrival and Departure of Trains.

Table with 3 columns: Direction, Train Name, and Time.

Outrages Conducted—Three Ladies and a Gentleman Assaulted by Soldiers!

On yesterday evening, at 8 o'clock, as Mr. Anderson was walking in company with three young ladies, on Market street, between Fifth and Twelfth, they were assaulted and assaulted by three ruffians in Federal uniforms. As they approached the ladies (being under the influence of liquor), they intentionally ran against them, almost knocking them down and driving them from the pavement. As soon as the gentleman could comprehend the affair, he "went for" the scamps and felled them all, one after the other, until drawing their weapons, he retreated into one of the stores. The affair was most disgraceful one, and the parties, if possible, should be arrested and punished. If ladies are to be insulted and run over by such scoundrels with impunity, the sooner the citizens prepare to protect themselves the better. Savages, we are told, respect their women—the civilized and even the semi-civilized regard them with peculiar consideration. "de-fenders" more than savage, and almost less than human, in the face of a claimed superior civilization.

The Late State Fair—The Receipts.

The State Fair which was held on the fair grounds this city last week, was considering the extreme hot weather, a complete success. We yesterday called upon Mr. Tate, the efficient Treasurer, who gave us the following as the entire receipts:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount.

A person cannot judge of the attendance from the above receipts, as thousands of persons went who had family tickets.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

A NOVEL CASE.—We have often heard of the arrest of persons about eloping, but we do not remember to have heard of a woman being brought into court charged with seducing a young man from his home.

THE FIRE YESTERDAY MORNING.

Loss $32,000—Three Firemen Injured by the Falling Walls.

In the Democrat of yesterday we mentioned the fire which occurred at an early hour in the morning, at the corner of Eighth and the river. The fire was first discovered in the brass and iron foundry and machine shop of Hawley, Billings & Wayman, and before the engines could arrive at the scene, the entire foundry was enveloped in one sheet of flames. So rapidly did the flames spread that the entire building was almost destroyed before the steam fire department could render full headway. The flames soon spread to the two frame cottages adjoining the foundry, which were only saved through the extra exertions of the firemen. These buildings, which was the property of Wm. Prentiss, were occupied by Mr. Billings and Thos. McLean. Mr. Billings' loss in damage to his furniture, by fire, water and removal, is about $10,000, while the loss of Mr. McLean will amount to about $20,000. The rest of the buildings were badly damaged, but the loss of the houses was $500. There was no insurance on this property.

The building in which the foundry was situated was the property of Hawley, Billings & Wayman, and was completely destroyed. It was valued at $12,000, with which there was an insurance of $8,000.

Hawley, Billings & Wayman, estimate the loss of the foundry at $12,000, and the loss of the houses at $500. There was no insurance on this property.

The following are the principal losers with the amount of each loss:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Amount.

By the above it will be seen that the loss above the insurance was $23,000.

The loss was divided between the following insurance companies: Continental of New York, $2,000; Lafayette, of Brooklyn, $2,000; Home, of Connecticut, $2,000; Fulton, of New York, $2,000.

The firemen worked with energy, and had it not been for their extra exertions, we would have had to record a much greater loss. During the progress of the fire, three of the members of the Gillis company were hurt, two of them seriously. It appears that Thos. Casey, Andrew Lennox and Edward Meekin, who had the pipe of the Gillis, went to the rear of the building for the purpose of throwing water into the back of the house.

While there and directing the pipe, the walls caved in, burying the three beneath the ruins. They were soon got out, and it seems almost a miracle that they were not killed. Messrs. Casey and Lennox were badly bruised, while the injury to Meekin was but slight.

The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary, as it originated in that portion of the building where there had been no fire since last spring.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Tuesday, Sept. 19, 1865.—The Grand Jury not being complete, only twelve members being present, was ordered to re-assemble on Thursday morning, and attachments ordered against the missing members.

The following persons were fined for drunkenness and disorderly conduct: Thos. Haffey, $15; Thos. Dook, $15; Joseph Farrar, $5; Wm. Constock, $10; Mary Jane Pickins, $5; Margaret O'Bannon, $5; Mary Ann Sullivan, $5; Ann Smith, $5; Martha T. Cain, $5; Lizzie Wright, $5; each of the women named last held in $100 for three months.

Irish Hold, $5; Pat Moran, $5; B. F. McDaniel, $5; Wm. Reynolds, $10; G. T. Harden, $7; Thos. Kelley, $7; L. Hanan, $5; Ann Conner, $5 and $200 security for 30 days; Jas. Howard, $5 and $200 security for 30 days.

Susan, slave of Dr. Stratton, poisoning the McCorkle family; continued till Tuesday next.

Wm. B. Barker, drunk and disorderly; discharged.

Geo. Ralston, a small boy, was sent to the House of Refuge at the request of his mother.

Jno. Todd, drunk and disorderly; discharged.

The amount of fines on ordinance warrants issued to-day was $55.

C. H. J. Hardin and F. C. Mosebeck, stealing a horse from L. S. H. Morrison; continued until to-morrow.

Joe Murphy, stealing a hat from Phil. McCorkle; discharged.

Chas. Spencer and S. Telly, alias James, suspected felons; bail in $100 for 30 days; Mack Craddock, a free negro, disorderly conduct; discharged.

Jas. Stewart, alias Mason Boone, stealing one horse from Henry Maybourn and one from Mrs. E. H. Talbot; continued until to-morrow morning.

Geo. Estelle, alias F. Harmonson, stealing a horse from Jno. Carr, in Indiana; committed for sixty days to await requisition from the Governor of Indiana.

Ansied Aubrey and Clara Watson, killing Wm. Cain; continued until to-morrow morning.

Fannie Moore, keeping a disorderly house and aiding young Silman to leave his home and parents; own bond in $200 to answer.

Nancy Johnson, a free negro, stealing clothing from Mr. Williams; bail $200 for six months.

In our notice, yesterday, of the captain of the forty thieves being sent to the House of Refuge, we gave his name as William Church, when it should have been Daniel Webster.

The amount of fines imposed in the Police Court yesterday amounted to $185, fifty-five of which was on ordinance warrants.

The 11th regiment "beef-eaters" came down on the Gen. Buell yesterday morning from above. They were armed and "eager for the fray."

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of meeting Major General Geo. H. Thomas and Major General Burbridge yesterday. We didn't speak to them.

RELEASED.—The following persons have been ordered to be released from the military prison: Robert Penn, a citizen of Franklin county, Ky.; charged with assault and battery.

Thomas Bryan, citizen of Fayette county, Ky.; same charge.

Taylor Morton, (colored), Jessamine county; charge—violation of military orders.

Wm. Webb, private Co. K, 11th Mich. cav. cavalry.

If you want to purchase a family Bible, call and examine the splendid assortment they have at the Cosmopolitan Book Store, 210 Fourth street.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Louisville Water Company will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the election of two Directors for the ensuing year.

Notice.—THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE LOUISVILLE WATER COMPANY will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the election of two Directors for the ensuing year.

Notice.—THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE LOUISVILLE WATER COMPANY will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the election of two Directors for the ensuing year.

Notice.—THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE LOUISVILLE WATER COMPANY will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the election of two Directors for the ensuing year.

Notice.—THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE LOUISVILLE WATER COMPANY will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the election of two Directors for the ensuing year.

Notice.—THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE LOUISVILLE WATER COMPANY will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the election of two Directors for the ensuing year.

Notice.—THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE LOUISVILLE WATER COMPANY will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the election of two Directors for the ensuing year.

Notice.—THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE LOUISVILLE WATER COMPANY will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the election of two Directors for the ensuing year.

DISORDER AT CLEVELAND, TENN.—We learn that a serious disturbance occurred Friday at Cleveland, between the citizens of that town. No particulars in relation to the affair. A detachment of colored infantry left Chattanooga for Cleveland in order to aid in quelling the disorder.

Up to five o'clock last evening the only arrest made by the police was that of a negro boy for striking a white lad on the head with a stick.

The 11th Michigan regiment left for home yesterday.

We learn that the negro soldiers at the barracks, between Tenth and Eleventh streets, on Broadway, are in the habit of amusing themselves by shooting at random, and bullets, consequently, are daily flying in unpleasant proximity to the residents of that locality. A stop should be put to it at once, and the proper officer should see to it.

We were the recipient yesterday of a magnificent magnolia flower, from the conservatory of Mrs. Geo. W. Wickes, of this city. In the sunny climate, where the magnolia is indigenous, we have never seen the flower more perfect and beautiful than the one now on our table, for which, we are duly appreciative and grateful.

Amusements.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen Mac in this part will not fail to attend to-night, and to those who have not, we would say, do not miss this opportunity.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The great Louisville favorite, Mr. Macaulay, continues to draw large and fashionable audiences. In the play of "Hector," he has played his part to the entire satisfaction of the audience, in addition to which, he was well sustained by the company. To-night he will appear, for the last time, as Senior Valentine, in the great play of the "Rose of Lima." Those who have seen

